FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

---

The Desert Caballeros Western Museum is in excellent financial and organizational health. We have balanced our budgets as far back as anyone can remember, there is no debt, and the Western art collection is consistently ranked as one of the best in the country.

Jason Rovey
Chairman of the Board of Trustees
April 2019 – Sept. 2022

However, this doesn't mean we can sit back and expect this success to continue. We must thoughtfully manage our precious resources and carefully plan for the future. I have always believed the time to change is from a position of strength and that is what we intend to do during the next few years, but we needed a well-thought-out road map to guide us. This is why the Board of Trustees embarked this year on our most comprehensive strategic planning process ever.

We needed to fully understand where we were and establish where we wanted to go. So, we set priorities and focused our energy to ensure that trustees, employees, and other stakeholders are working toward common goals.

This work has resulted in two overarching new directions for the Museum going forward. The first is to broaden the narrative of the stories we tell. The history of the West is a rich confluence of cultures, and we want to share their real histories, both the triumphs and tragedies, so a full and accurate picture is presented.

Second, we have made the biggest decision since the Museum was founded more than 50 years ago and that is to construct an entirely new museum to create a state-of-the-art home for the collection and exhibitions for the next 50 years.

Regrettably, I won't be leading these efforts as my time as chairman of the Board concluded at the end of the fiscal year. I have unqualified confidence in the new officers, especially incoming chairman Sam Crissman, to construct an amazing new building in which the true stories of the West can be shared.

It's been a great honor to serve as chairman and I look forward to watching the Museum build upon this firm foundation.

Sincerely,
Jason Rovey
Chairman of the Board of Trustees

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

---

Since the earliest conversations about establishing a Western history museum in Wickenburg, it was clear local enthusiasm for the idea was high, but substantial private philanthropy would be required to make the dream a reality. The people of Wickenburg rose to the occasion.

Daniel M. Finley
Executive Director

Our beloved and highly regarded Desert Caballeros Western Museum exists today because of the financial generosity of many good people, both permanent residents and extended-stay winter visitors. All one needs to do is meander about the galleries to see the names on the walls of these altruistic donors.

Sadly, this year we lost one of our most staunch benefactors, Mrs. Roberta “Bobbye” Rogers. Bobbye and her husband Joel began their steadfast support of the Museum in the 1980s through membership and annual giving. Joel passed away in 2007, but Bobbye’s support never wavered.

She passed away in December 2021 and in her true benevolent fashion, left to the Museum one of the largest donations we ever received. The gift was more than $2 million dollars and the Board of Trustees will decide the best way to designate the funds to honor Bobbye and Joel.

Under the leadership of the indomitable Betty Watt, we saw the return in 2022 of the Heart of the West Gala after a hiatus due to COVID. Famed Arizona painter Bill Anton was the event’s honoree. Las Señoras de Socorro had a spectacular year raising money for the Museum through their annual Home and Garden Tour and several new events.

Cowgirl Up! returned to its traditional full schedule of opening weekend events. The festivities were again most ably led by Becky Rovey. We hosted the inaugural Western Woman of Distinction luncheon and were proud to honor former Museum executive director Royce Kardinal Ferree.

The Apache Stories exhibition concluded a successful year-long run. Museum membership set another record at more than 650 people. Boyd Ranch’s youth programs continued to grow along with new equestrian events. The Ranch was booked almost every weekend during the winter and spring months.

The Museum remains financially strong under the leadership of the Trustees so we can proceed confidently with our new building plans.

Sincerely,
Daniel M. Finley
Executive Director
